

ALASKA ADDENDUM TO SATELLITE EQUIPMENT
INSTALLATION MANUFACTURER AND SUPPLIER AGREEMENTS

Satellite Internet and TV installations in Alaska involve unusual logistics and shipping challenges, which along with other factors, add to installation costs in Alaska. Notwithstanding provisions in manufacturer and supplier contracts, agreements or advertising to the contrary, it is understood and agreed that in Alaska, the Customer will incur additional charges for this installation of satellite equipment, in addition to any payment for the purchase or shipping costs of the equipment or service. Once paid, these additional charges for installation of Customer's satellite equipment are nonrefundable, even in the event that Customer later terminates the manufacturer or supplier's contract for service.

Manufacturer and supplier representations notwithstanding, it is further understood that due to the same factors which require charges for the original installation, Customer may incur additional charges for future site visits, including warranty repairs.
